Say the Time 2.0.2

Say the Time is a fantastic utility for your Windows 95 desktop. Sometimes, when you get working, its hard to keep track of the time, even though the time is right on the taskbar. Well, now you have an audio way of knowing exactly what time it is. Say the Time will actually speak, yes, speak the time. You can set it to say the time every 5, 10, 15, 30, or 60 minutes. You can even say the time on demand by clicking on the clock icon that it puts on the taskbar (its on the far right side).   A new feature in this version is alarms. Say the Time now lets you create multiple alarms. With alarms, you can be reminded of special events (e.g., meetings), run programs (e.g., at 6:00 PM daily, run Defrag). You can even associate special sounds with the alarms.
