Fate 0.2

<http://vetusware.com/download/Fate%200.2/?id=14470>

Fate is a simulated hacking challenge, there is no ranking system, and the simulation is run entirely from your own computer. Quite a number of years ago, the game Fate was created to teach people basic security under Linux, since it is infact a Linux Simulation. It was named so because of the way inwhich the player is forced into following a specific route, yet is given options on the way to complete it. A site was made to include tutorials and help. Ive included the sourcecode as availeble on their website wich is now gone. The archive has their site backedup. <https://web.archive.org/web/20050420084559/http://www.fatetek.net:80/training.shtml> Runs best under DOSBOX on windows7 or higher. fate.exe is compiled in 2001, but distributed in 2002. the site is made public in 2005.
