So, my grandpa had a construction business and he gave me ALL of the software, disks and manuals he had. In total, I must have around 100 or so manuals, documentation and notices. Some of them are in French, but most, if not all, are in English. I want to make them available for everyone to enjoy, but I don't know if I can scan the bigger ones (Mostly the WfW and DOS manual and all the NetWare ones) without damaging them. Any tips?
