I intend to play...

Grandia. Just because I like it, the music is nice, it's as fast or slow as I want it to be (rather slow) and I can do other things while playing. All those RPGs were really made for the Switch.

Pokemon Shield. Probably. Because I don't feel like Rayman and need to play something tomorrow morning that the kids can watch.

Football. Big footy day tomorrow. Local team. Watching and shouting rather than playing.

Children of Morta. I started this during the week, and I might just continue this.
