CA-Compete! is a multidimensional modeling and data viewing tool that looks and works much like a spreadsheet. A CA-Compete! model, however, can contain many more dimensions than are provided in the standard two- or three-dimensional spreadsheets, allowing you to capture and analyze the complexities and dynamics of real world business problems and situations. With a powerful set of tools, functions, and reporting capabilities, CA-Compete! can help you reduce the time required to create analyses while increasing their sophistication and value. One of the greatest attributes of CA-Compete! is its flexibility. A model can have as many as 12 dimensions of data where you define the number and type of relationships between each dimension. Dimensions can represent different elements of a business or categories of data. For example, you might want to track the financial performance of products over time for each of several regions — a four-dimensional analysis. You could expand the model to include other relevant
