The story so far: Jobe, a simpleton who spends his hours cutting neighbourhood lawns, is used as a human guinea-pig by Dr. Angelo and attains superhuman powers with the help of a unique Virtual Reality system. These powers, initially intended for peaceful purposes, are misused by "The Shop", a government agency financing Dr. Angelo's experiments. Their intervention turns the initially passive Jobe into Cyberjobe, a highly destructive psychopath intent on taking over the world from within it's computer networks.   The game: Cyberjobe has entered Virtual Reality within the world's computer networks and now seeks revenge against Dr. Angelo for the injustice carried out against him. Using his new-found powers he manages to pull Dr. Angelo, Carla and Peter with him into his V.R. domain. As Dr. Angelo, push your gaming skills to the limit as you pit yourself, both mentally and physically against the ultimate in computer incarnations.
